

Bishop Schuler was installed in his Cathedral at El Paso on Thursday, when the people of that city had prepared a great reception for him. The Immaculate Conception church at El Paso, was formally designated as the Cathedral before Bishop Schuler was named to his dignity. The new St. Patrick's church will be made the Cathedral just as soon as it is finished. It is to be the church of the present Immaculate Conception parish.

NONE SO BLIND.

It has been explained time and again that Catholics owe no allegiance to the Pope as a temporal power, yet the Western Recorder, a local Baptist paper with A. P. A. tendencies, says in its latest issue referring to the Knights of Columbus: "It will be admitted that the members of the Knights of Columbus do owe allegiance to at least one potentate, and this potentate is the Pope at Rome. Since no one of them will deny this fact" * * *

In their expose of the fake K. of C. oath the California Masons stated that the Knights of Columbus ritual and oath instills a love for country, a reverence for law and order and upholds the constitution of our country, this being quoted in the Congressional Record of January 29 this year. Yet the narrow-minded bigot who writes the above still says that none of them will deny that they owe temporal allegiance to the Pope. Verily there are none so blind as those who will not see.

THAT DELAYED NOTE.

In its note to Great Britain the United States Government makes the following protest:

That the British blockade is ineffective, illegal and indefensible.

It serves notice on England that the American Government can not submit to curtailment of its neutral rights.

Holds that international law allows the right of search on the high seas but does not countenance investigations in port prompted by suspicions.

Asserts that delays to American trade have aided England in furthering her own commerce.

Declares that prize court decisions are based on the territorial law of England and not according to international precedent.

Both press and people applaud the note and sing praise for Secretary Lansing and his stand. "Though England has not destroyed American life, she has destroyed a great part of American trade to the advantage of her own commerce," is a passage found in not a few of the editorials. Here are comments that show the American feeling:

"The British authorities may have supposed they were pulling the wool over somebody's eyes, and vainly imagined they were deceiving others; but the President strips the alleged embargo of its gauzy garments, exposes its nakedness and its pretenses and hypocrisy."

"It has come at last, a strong, definite, uncompromising note from the United States on Great Britain's illegal interference with American trade. It is to be hoped that the Washington administration intends to back it up, to the point of refusing to let Great Britain buy war munitions in this country any longer if these practices persist."

"Secretary Lansing's note to Great Britain protesting against further interference with the trade of this and other neutral countries is a plain and straightforward statement of a series of truths which should have been accentuated when the first improper seizure of a neutral ship was made. The administration has slumbered just one year too long on this important issue."

The United States has stated its case and should stand firmly for every word therein. England must be made to understand that our patience has reached the end.

DANGER TO LIBERTY.

In the course of a sermon preached by the Rev. Rudolph Glossman in the Temple Rudolph Glossman in New York City this past week, he said:

"I deem it my solemn duty to protest against the religious instruction feature of the Gary system, that I, at least, can not but regard as un-American, undemocratic and as it seems to me subversive of the fundamental principle of American liberty. I am opposed to the religious instruction feature because the mere recognition by the public school of religion and religious differences at once introduces the baneful spirit of sectarianism and weakens, if it does not nullify that great and mighty principle that is basic to our American life and happiness—the complete separation of Church and State. I am opposed, because it would inevitably tend to divide our children into groups according to their religious affiliations. Think of it! At least ten times during the school day a group of children denominated Catholic would go its way to its religious school, another group called Protestant, and still another group named Jewish, would go each its own particular way to its own denominational school. Can you not see the unfortunate result that would ensue from this process of segregation according to credal beliefs? I am opposed because I see in it a vehicle that might be utilized for purposes of proselytism. Let religion be taught where it rightly belongs, at the domestic altar, in the church and synagogue, in the denominational school, but let our public schools be and forever remain free and untrammelled to the utmost degree, the bulwark of our liberty, the fashioner and the inspirer of civic and national unity."

TOILERS IN CITIES.

There is no greater need of charity than in the lives of the working girls of our great cities. We do not mean a charity that gives a few dimes or dollars or maybe a generous check, but we do mean the charity of love, companionship and an equality that does not see the faded clothes and worn gloves, but reaches far into the tired heart and neglected life of the general working girl. In one large city two Irish girls came, eager to work and eager for what they imagined must be the larger life. They attended to their religious duties carefully. They knew the priest enough to have a little talk now and then, but they did not wear their hearts on their sleeves, so the world knew nothing of their social hunger. "We have been here fifteen years and, outside of business, we do not know three people," complained one. "Life would mean so much to us if we could visit some one for a little friendly talk." Our societies seem to fail in reaching some of these kind of girls, although they are real and in real need of just the right kind of sympathy.

CHURCH AND MASONRY.

The Catholic church wars against Masonry to this extent, that she forbids her members to be Masons, for the very obvious reason that Masonry is a religion and is so considered by Masonic writers. The Catholic church believes that the Catholic church is the pillar and ground of truth. She stands therefore, says Truth, in opposition to all doctrines which are opposed to her own teachings. Thus for example she is in opposition to Protestantism, to Mohammedanism or any other ism that is in fundamental opposition to her. The Democratic party is in opposition to the Republican party, and both are in opposition to the Progressive party. All of them, however, manage to live together as citizens without breaking one another's heads. No one seriously thinks that a Catholic can be a member of the Methodist church at the same time that he is a member of the Catholic church. Fundamentally our quarrel with Masons in this country is the same, and fair-minded Masons recognize that fact. We oppose Latin Masonry for the same reason that American Masons refuse to recognize it—because it is a propagator of revolution and infidelity.

"WATCHFUL WAITING."

"Watchful waiting" in regard to Mexico has been abandoned. It seems that the policy was a favorite one with President Wilson in other affairs besides international ones. But he doesn't believe in waiting too long. His marriage to Mrs. Galt will take place in December, it is announced. For one who was supposed to be heart broken over the death of his wife a little over a year ago, this shows a quick recovery. He was watchful; all right; but the waiting has been cut short.

HYPHENATED PATRIOTS.

Immigration Commissioner Frederick Howe, an appointee of President Wilson, says: "There is a great deal of talk of hyphenated Americans, but the only class of this kind whom I consider dangerous is the hyphenated patriots, in whose case patriotism is united in unholy wedlock with profit." This sounds like Mr. Howe refers to the pro-English papers here and the Morgan interest who are selling ammunition to dear old England.

The annual report of Librarian

George T. Settle and the Board of Trustees of the Louisville Free Public Library has been received, and in every respect must prove satisfactory to the friends of that institution. All the work of the past year is given in detail and shows that progress has been made at the main and branch libraries. The management has been all that the taxpayers and library patrons could desire.

The American Truth Society, now forming branches throughout the country, has several creditable objects and principles, one of the most meritorious of which is to propagate truth in all national matters to the end that the Declaration of Independence, Washington's farewell address and an Americanism which recognizes the rights of all the people without discrimination may be preserved.

Those editors who so strenuously object to outsiders directing them in the management and publication of their papers should cease their attempts to run the Knights of Columbus. While the latter have been and are doing great good the former are making themselves ridiculous.

Philadelphia showed itself true to its name when it repudiated bigotry by drowning its flag-bearer under a plurality of 80,000 in favor of one who believes in the constitution of the United States.

India has awakened and the unrest confronts English rule. Kitcheners will soon have his hands full. England's secrecy can not last much longer.

Restricting emigration will not greatly strengthen the English army. British subjects will still evade military duty.

LACORDAIRE.

November 22 will be the fifty-fourth anniversary of the death of the famous French priest, Pere Lacordaire. This wonderful priest, perhaps the most eloquent pulpit orator that France has produced during the past century, is gratefully remembered by Irishmen for his famous funeral oration on O'Connell. He was born in 1802, the son of a humble country physician, and was educated for the bar. His father had served under Rochambeau in the war for American independence. When the young man was pursuing his studies and mingling with the social circles of the day, at a time when infidel teachings were being widely disseminated, he became affected by the contagion and was noted for his anti-Catholic utterances as much as for the eloquence with which he expressed them. Suddenly he astonished all his acquaintances by confessing to an entire change of feeling and sentiment shortly after his coming of age, and he announced his intention of studying for the priesthood, giving up all pleasures and allurements of the world for the toil and sacrifice of the ecclesiastical state. He often said in after life that neither man nor book was the instrument of his conversion, but that a sudden and secret stroke of grace opened his eyes to the nothingness of irreligion.

WHEN THE WAR ENDS.

A New York Socialist, having written to ask Father Bernard Vaughan if he did not think that after the war the Catholic church would not be down and out everywhere but in the United States, Father Vaughan replied: "Dear 'Comrade': The Catholic church can never be down and out. For two thousand years she has driven through stress and storm, and has delivered the goods all the time. With Peter at the helm, she defies torpedoes, minefields and bombs. If you want to make good, come right in while you have the chance. Once aboard you will find she is the lifeboat worth writing home about. When the war is done, and the allies have won, she is going to carry more passengers than ever to the right landing stage. Shall I book your passage? Yours in true brotherhood, 'Bernard Vaughan, S. J.'"

CHAPEL FUND GROWS.

The stenographers of the United States are plainly interested in the chapel that they hope to build in some little forsaken hamlet of the United States, for they are sending in their dollars and money for the missions of Christ is a very tangible sign that interest is not lacking. A dollar sent in to this fund gives the donor the privilege of casting a vote as to the name of the chapel. The name that is the favorite so far is that of the Chapel of Jesus and Mary. Of course no one is prohibited from sending in a dollar to swell this fund. Have you sent in yours? Even if you are not a stenographer you can send in a dollar to the Stenographers' Fund. When the chapel is built we are looking to stenographers to furnish it. Donations may be sent to the offices of the Catholic Church Extension Society, McCormick building, Chicago.

WOULD HAVE POWER.

The Rev. George E. Hunt, D. D., retiring Moderator of the Wisconsin Synod of the Presbyterian church, in his sermon at the opening of the State meeting in Calvary church at

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

The order is steadily progressing in Ireland.

Pat Mangin, of Division 4, is still ill at the City Hospital.

Divisions everywhere are planning entertainments for the winter.

Division 3 will have a social meeting next Monday evening.

The building of the Hibernian hall in St. Paul is now an assured fact.

The next meeting of Division 4 on November 22 will be a social one.

Five hundred were served at the supper of the Ladies' Auxiliary at Worcester, Mass.

Don't forget the quarterly meeting at Division 3's home, Sunday afternoon, November 21.

The festival of the St. Paul Hibernians was a grand success, $3,000 being netted for the home fund.

Division 1 of Holyoke, Mass., has started a movement to double its membership before the close of the year.

Company B of the Hibernian Rifles is one of the wide awake military organizations of San Francisco.

Yorke Division, L. A., of San Francisco, entertained on Wednesday with an open meeting and country store.

Following the Dublin convention the work of organization was taken up earnestly in many counties in Ireland.

The benefit given by the Hibernians of Kingston, N. Y., for the Home of the Holy Childhood was a pronounced success.

Six candidates initiated and several applications received marked the last meeting of Ladies' Auxiliary 50 at Bridgeport, Conn.

Magnificent public demonstrations in the North and West of Ireland have attracted large numbers of new members to the divisions.

Division 2 of Utica enjoyed a fine repart following its last meeting, when a large class was obligated and several applications received.

The question of amusements during the winter months is important.
This is a matter that should receive the attention of every division.

Long Island City Hibernians are arranging a great reception for National President McLaughlin and the New York State officers on December 15.

Divisions from Turners Falls, Greenfield and Shadburne Falls attended the Ladies' Auxiliary County Board meeting at Northampton, Mass.

The membership campaign of Division 2 of Syracuse added twenty-four names to the roll at last week's meeting and brought in fourteen additional applications.

Division 1 and the Ladies' Auxiliary of Worcester have engaged in a membership contest, which will end with a dinner and theater party in Boston. Each organization agrees to secure members for the other.

The Omaha Letter Carriers' band, forty strong, serenaded William Maher last week. He is President of the Omaha Hibernians and was elected a member of the Letter Carriers' National Executive Board.

MEANS JIM CROW LAW.

A negro dressed in the uniform of a United States soldier, by means of legal threats, compelled the manager of a restaurant for white patrons to serve him in a local restaurant here Monday evening, causing the white people present to leave in a body.
In East Orange, N. J., Robert A.
Travis, a negro leader, advised the negroes to start a riot because of the drawing of the color line in the leading theater of that place. All of this is caused by the tactics of the Louisville Herald, which in the recent campaign published a lot of unbecoming about negroes being deprived of their votes, etc. This will only lead to a passage of the Jim Crow laws on street cars and a more strict interpretation of the segregation laws.

POLICE CHANGES.

Several members of the police force will soon be retired and placed on the pension list, among them Capt. Adams. There is a widespread feeling that Lieut. Fulford, who has a splendid record, should be promoted to the vacancy. There are rumors that Capt. Ludwick will also be retired and that Lieut. Ira Hutchinson will succeed him. This would leave two Lieutenants' places vacant, and for these Sergeants John M.
Maloney, Thomas Fitzgibbons, John M. Ridge and Patrick O'Hearn are all mentioned. Uniforms for both the police and firemen are now being distributed by the Kennedy-Coady Company, 631 West Walnut.

TURKEYS GALORE.

Turkeys and plenty of them will be the feature at the euchre and lotto to be given under the auspices of the St. Louis Church Debt and Building Fund at Bertrand Hall, Tuesday afternoon and evening, November 23. The Committee of Arrangements have already placed an order for sixty turkeys with the intention of securing more if needed on the evening of the affair. As a special inducement turkeys will be offered for euchre and lotto prizes both afternoon and evening.

SACRED CONCERT.

The first sacred concert of the New Albany Catholic Choral Club will be given at St. Mary's church next Wednesday night. The organization, which was organized in July, includes the best Catholic talent in the city under the leadership of Prof.
John B. Hoffman, organist at St.
Mary's church. The choral club

WELCOME FATHER DONOHUE.
Rev. Father Eugene P. Donohue, the new pastor of St. Paul's church, was greeted by a large attendance at all the masses last Sunday. His sermons and the outline of his work greatly pleased his hearers, who are elated over his appointment as their pastor.

TRINITY COUNCIL.

The meeting of Trinity Council, Y. M. I., was well attended last Monday evening. The Carnival Committee reported there would be a meeting Sunday afternoon at 3:30 for the committee and ladies who will have charge of the carnival.
The Athletic Committee also reported that the junior class is well patronized every Friday afternoon and that good results were coming from same.

Next Monday evening there will be a complimentary prize basket ball game in the new gymnasium, and the members and their friends are invited to attend. Wm. J. Sandman, of the Literary Committee, read a paper on "The Progress of the Catholic Church," which was written by a non-Catholic, and it was quite interesting. The Membership Committee reported that progress was being made with the work of their committee, which has been shown by applications for membership being received every Monday evening.

handsome prizes to be disposed of on that occasion. Those attending will also have an opportunity to inspect the new home of Holy Rosary Academy.

WHERE THEY MARRY.

Wyoming has the smallest proportion of unmarried women to its population of any State in the Union.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

The death is much regretted of Sister Mary Catherine Stanley, of the Dominican Convent, Wicklow.

By a majority the Penmanagh County Council passed the resolution protesting against the banishment of Irish Volunteers.

John Heffernan, Tipperary, who recently injured his spine by falling thirty feet from a pear tree at Croque, succumbed to his injuries.

The death of the Rev. John Mc-Nulty, Termon, is much regretted.
He was a staunch advocate of the Irish language and native industries.

The new church at Maudabawn was dedicated by Most Rev. Dr.
Finagan, who praised the beauty of the new edifice and its commodious-ness.

The Enniskillen Guardians passed a vote of condolence to the relatives of the late Thomas McGovern, who was for forty years a member of the board.

The Kilkenny Corporation have unanimously passed a resolution congratulating the Most Rev. Dr.
Finagan on his election to the Archbishopric of Dublin.

Rev. Patrick Brady, Dromahair, County Leitrim, who has passed away in his forty-fifth year, was one of the most amiable and popular priests in the diocese of Kilmore.

The Rev. M. Blakey, Castlereagh, and the Rev. D. Donovan, Ballymore, have left for missionary work in Melbourne, Australia. Both young priests were ordained a few months ago.

Patrick O'Neill, manager of the Co-operative Society, Armagh, has been presented by the employees of the firm with a costly silver repose bowl on the occasion of his marriage.

Miss Edith BYRNE, daughter of J.
Byrne, White House, Wicklow, was professed nun of the order of Irish Sisters of Charity in the Mount St. Anne Convent, Miltown, County Dublin.

The death of the Rev. M. D.
Masterson, Legan, is much regretted.
He was born in the parish of Dromard about thirty-eight years ago. The interment took place at the family cemetery at Moyne.

Two farms belonging to Mrs.
Campbell, Cloncoose, were put up for auction at the Longford Court House. The highest bidder was Solicitor Kenny, who offered $6,000. The second farm brought $4,750.

At a poorly attended recruiting meeting in Westport, William Doris, M. P., was one of the speakers. The result of the meeting, like that of every other meeting held in the West, was that not one recruit was secured.

The Clonmel Corporation has co-opted Councillor D. F. O'Connor as Alderman in the room of his late father. The following were co-opted Councillors to fill vacancies caused by death: William Blake, James Lonergan and John Dalton.

The death has taken place of the octogenarian, "King" John, of Innis-kea, South Island. He was born in Connemara, settled and married in Inniskea, and succeeded to the Inniskea throne on the death of the last of the Keane or Cain dynasty.

Sincere regret is felt in Dundalk at the death of Henry O'Connell, Earl street, one of the most prominent business men in the town. He was connected with all the local charitable organizations, and for many years had been Chairman of the Urban Council. He was aged seventy-five.

GOOD NEWS.

The news that the Gallagher Company, of Belfast, Ireland, will be in the Kentucky market this fall will be hailed with delight by tobacco growers in Henderson, Union and Webster counties, as growers have been considerably alarmed for several months over the sale of this year's crop. The continuation of the European war has affected many independent buyers in this State. The Gallaghers, who are represented by William Michaels, are the largest buyers of dark tobacco in this State except the Imperial Tobacco Company, which has not been in the Kentucky market for two years.

POPE ABSOLUTELY NEUTRAL.

Official denial in the Osservatore Romano that Monsignor Marchetti, Papal Delegate to Switzerland, had met Prince von Buelow, former German Chancellor, to discuss peace negotiations, has been supplemented in Vatican quarters with the statement that such reports tend to mislead the public concerning the real attitude of the Holy See, which leaves the episcopacy and clergy in each belligerent country entirely free to manifest their patriotic feelings. The Pope, on the other hand, is absolutely neutral. He sides with neither group of belligerents, it is asserted, and is anxious only to diminish the horrors of war by hastening in every possible way the conclusion of peace.

BISHOP'S FINE PRESENT.

At the banquet at the Brown Palace in Denver which closed the celebration of the consecration of Bishop Schuler, Father Edward J.
Barry, pastor of the Immaculate Conception parish of El Paso, Texas, presented the new Bishop with a check for $58,000 from the parishioners of the city of El Paso. The money was raised by public subscription through the efforts of Father Barry and will be used toward a new Cathedral. In accepting the gift Bishop Schuler said: "I did not want to be Bishop. I was satisfied to be the humble priest that I was.
I shall go to my new post filled with ambition and encouragement, encouraged by both the people of Denver and those of El Paso, who have so generously subscribed the substantial amount which Father Barry has just presented to me."
